

Bayer Climate Program

Bayer Climate Champions for China, India and the United States

Bean Li (Bayer Greater China), Ram Sai Yelamanchili (Bayer India) and Valerie Patrick (Bayer Corp.) have been nominated Bayer's climate champions. Their task is to identify new political and scientific sources to present and extend the Bayer Climate Program in their regions, which also means they will support the introduction of the lighthouse projects regionally. In addition, the climate champions will, in conjunction with the Bayer subgroups and service companies, generate new business opportunities related to the climate.

In the picture: Dr. Wolfgang Große Entrup, head of Environment & Sustainability, Bayer AG together with the Bayer Climate Champions Bean Li from China and Ram Sai Yelamanchili from India

This photo shows Valerie Patrick, Climate Champion for the United States of America

